

'What it takes to succeed in Geology 101'

By: Geology 101 Students Fall 2007

'A positive attitude and a willingness to learn is all it takes....keep your ears and eyes at attention when she teaches.'

'Study at least 2 hours a week.'

'1. Take good notes. 2. Don't wait until the night before a test to study, start at least 3 days out. 3. Try not to miss a class. 4. Don't skip school on lab days (usually relates to text and provides a visual on what is taught in class. 5. Understand Bowen's Reaction Series.'

'Read the chapters, pay attention to lecture, take good, thorough notes from lectures, participate in reviews, print out study guides and keys, Study, Study, Study, talk to Carrie if you need to.'

'It takes a driven spirit and a good sense of humor.'

'I can say only one word – STUDY!!! If you don't study you will struggle in this class. Her tests are not very easy. Don't study the book, study the notes and really pay attention, because she gives the tests on notes and lecture, not the book!!'

'Take extremely good notes during lectures. Study notes and then refer to book if more explanation is needed. Ask questions if lost. Go to class every session, you will miss out a lot on the notes and what was said in class.'

'Don't procrastinate! Read the chapters and understand the pictures. Learn all the geology terms and how to use them.'

'To not get overwhelmed – make sure you keep up. Read the chapters and have an interest to want to be in here.'

'To succeed in geology, it is vital that you pay attention in class! Taking notes during the lecture is very helpful, because most of the information covered in class is directly on the exam. Also, study the diagrams!'

'Have fun. Work hard. If you don't understand, ask the teacher to help you. Go to the study groups. Take your time.'

'Pay attention to the lectures!!!'

'Take advantage of every single learning or studying opportunity available. Learn how geology relates to your life and world --if it is interesting to you, you will learn more readily.'

'If you wish to take this class, understand that the teacher forgets you have a life, STUDY LIKE HECK! EVERY DAY!'
